MACCLESFIELD TOWN FOOTBALL CLUB Penalty Shoot-outs

The first penalty shoot-out in an English professional match took place in 1970 at Boothferry Park, Hull between Hull City and Manchester United in the semi-final of the Watney Cup. The shoot-out was won by Manchester United with George Best the first to take a kick and Denis Law was the first player to miss. Since then the use of a penalty shoot-out has been extended widely to settle cup competition matches.

Macclesfield Town successfully completed 10 consecutive penalty shoot-outs but their unbeaten record was broken on 4 December 2018 when they lost 3-5 to Newcastle United Under 21s in the Second Round of the Checkatrade Trophy. Since then they have won one and lost one.

Nat Brown	The initial home match saw Southend come from behind on two occasions, with a final score of 2-2. Just 36 Macclesfield supporters travelled to Southend for the replay. The referee would not allow Macclesfield to play in their usual black away strip as he felt that it clashed too much with Southend's dark blue strip. The Silkmen played in white shirts with numbers on the back but no names. This was a hard fought battle with Macclesfield taking the lead in the 61 st minute through Emile Sinclair, Southend equalising in the 87 th minute to take the match into extra time. Again Macclesfield took the lead, Aristote Nsiala scoring in the 99 th minute but a Barry Corr strike six minutes later drew the home side level for a second time. With the score 2-2 at the end of extra time the match moved to a penalty shoot-out. Macclesfield scored all their penalties although the penalty taken by Nat Brown (who always wore a bandage on his left arm) was initially 'saved' by the 'keeper but as he was celebrating it looped over him into the goal.

However, the lead only existed for two minutes when Luca Colville hit a fantastic shot from outside the area which beat goalkeeper Rhys Taylor. At full time the score remained 1-1. A new rule introduced for the 2018-19 season eliminated extra time with the match moving immediately to a penalty shoot-out to determine the result. With one missed penalty for the Silkmen but two for Bradford, Macclesfield won through to the second round.

Scott Wilson	Sol Campbell's first official match as manager saw him make eight changes to the starting line-up. In the first half the young Newcastle side marshalled their resources well often forcing Macclesfield to play the ball backwards losing momentum and unable to break through the 4-3-2-1 formation. Midway through the half the home side took the lead with a deflected cross which rolled over the line with forward Scott Wilson missing a wonderful opportunity just before the interval when he shot straight at the 'keeper. The tempo increased in the second half with both sides pressing, Scott Wilson levelled the scores six minutes from time. With Ben Stephens missing his penalty, Newcastle ran out winners 5-3 bringing to an end Macclesfield's unbeaten run of penalty shoot-outs.
